

Mausham Bista (User Manual)

My style

I am self-motivated person, like to work alone and there is always something in my mind. I like to make decision by myself about me and I like to expand limit of my knowledge. I like to go to function but don't want to introduce myself to anyone as I am introvert type of person.

What I value

I value other person's personal space/time because I think everyone has their life and can do anything they want with their time. Moreover, I also listen to other opinion/ideas as everyone has different perspective about things in life which I respect. I value life, my time and happiness because this life is precious and have given by God to live it. Sportsmanship is another thing I value.

What I don't have patience for

When people don't fulfil their responsibility which make other people to work even if that is their work. When people don't show up in time makes me really impatience. People also like to bully others to look cool which is really bad.

How best to communicate with me

I prefer face to face to communicate because feelings can be shared, and I can know what another person is feeling. Video call and phone calls are other thing that I prefer rather than email and text message because with that also I feel the stuff that I need to share can be reached by people in real-time.

How to help me

To be honest you can help me by offering me food because that really keep me calm and happy. Feedback is something that can really help me to progress in myself and put them in action and improve. I also appreciate people when they remind when I am doing something wrong or off track.

What people misunderstand about me

I might seem quite but whenever I found some interesting topic I really like to discuss and engage with it deeply. I don't really say anything, but I notice everything that is going in front of me. I usually joke but some people don't understand and might feel hurt, but I usually joke to make environment cool and not boring.
